You can tell that the team is still putting out its feelers, trying to find the right artist to helm the series. This volume has ups and downs, but the best story in my opinion is by the artist who they will ultimately choose to draw the series. You could actually skip this volume if you wanted and head straight for the spectacular Plague of Frogs. B.P.R.D. Vol. 2: The Soul of Venice and Other Stories TPB This collection of 2003's Bureau for Paranormal Research and Defense one-shots kicks off with a goddess imprisoned in a story by Bastard Samurai creative team Miles Gunter & Michael Avon Oeming (Bastard Samurai), joined by series creator Mike Mignola. This volume includes five B.P.R.D. stories, along with thirteen pages of concept sketches. Note that the cover art is by Mike Mignola, but Mike did not draw any of the stories in this collection. He did contribute writing for "The Soul of Venice," and Mike wrote "Another Day at the Office." This collection has a variety of writing and art styles--which I find to be both good and bad. - B.P.R.D. Volume 2 The Soul Of Venice And Other Stories
