

Download HSG48 Reducing Error And Influencing Behaviour

Examines human factors and how they can affect workplace health and safety. The information on humanfactors101.com provides general guidance. The information provided may require tailoring to ensure that it is suitable and appropriate for application to your specific circumstances. Prepare to become a physician, build your knowledge, lead a health care organization, and advance your career with NEJM Group information and services. - HSG48 Reducing Error And Influencing Behaviour