For effective German Shepherd training, you must be a good leader in your dog's life. Leadership is about using brains and NOT brawn to train your German Shepherd. Understand what your dog is not (a human), learn to speak your dog's language and get inside his head. Dog training is much less about the teaching of commands and much more about how you live with your dog. Virtually all of your dog's behaviors (good and bad) are created by the way you're living with him. German Shepherds have an excellent nose for troubles and dangers. You can utilize this skill by providing them with proper trail training. Training them to track is quite a tedious and time-consuming task, but you won't regret it.
