Nearly all of this is contained by the Lake District National Park, synonymous with stirring natural splendour and outdoor escapades on land or water. It's a hard life on the hill-farms of Cumbria, as Tony Hopkins learned as he collected this unique portfolio of stunning, black-and-white photographs through all the seasons. Cumbria is home to the English Lake District and is a predominantly rural county, considered one of the most beautiful regions of the UK. Cumbria is also known as The Lakes or Lakeland, the Eden Valley, the North Pennines, and the Furness Peninsula. The county is also part of the Yorkshire Dales. - Cumbria True To The Land
