

Download New Hampshire Employment Laws State Employment Laws

Payment upon Separation from Employment Employees who are fired, discharged, or terminated. When an employee is discharged from employment by the employer, the employer must pay the employee all wages due within 72 hour of the discharge. New Hampshire Lawyers Representing Employees in Employment Discrimination Cases . Together, the trial lawyers at NH Employee Rights Group have decades of experience in federal and state court, vindicating employee rights in discrimination, retaliation, medical leave violation, failure to accommodate, and wage and hour cases. We have obtained very substantial verdicts and settlements for our ...Each state has its own employment laws. Some are more strict than others. Click on the name of a state listed below to learn more about its particular employment laws. About State Labor Laws. States may simply adopt Federal labor laws "as is" or they may establish their own that include or expand the minimum protections afforded by the Federal equivalents. Federal labor laws set only the minimum provisions in the states. Generally, your employee rights are protected by whichever laws—Federal or state—have the better provisions. - New Hampshire Employment Laws State Employment Laws